Council met last night in regular session, all members present except Mr. Anspaugh. The regular rules were suspended, and the Spinks contract taken up. It seems that Mr. Spinks refused to sign the contract on the ground that the ordinance and the plans and specifications of Berry avenue differed in regard to how gutter flacking should be classed. After a recess and considerable talk, the words "gutter flagging" were stricken out of the ordinance. It was clearly a mistake of the Council, and they took back water like little men. The con-

read, and showed a balance in the treasury of $2,905. The report was received and filed. The specifications of Lake street Ellinger and shortly afterwards returned home to find that Harrison had not put in an appearance. He then came to the city and left information with the authorities. Killed by a Train. Adam Herdigan, of Aurora, Ind., was instantly killed on the I., C. & L. Raffrond track, near the Sixth-street Bridge crossing, about 8 o'clock last night. It seems that he was coming in on the M. & C. train, and jumped off just in front of a freight train on the L. C. & L. Railroad, going out.

He was terribly mangled.

The train must have passed over him diagonally. The right leg was completely severed from the body at the thigh. left leg was nearly severed, being held only by figaments. He was completely disemboweled. There was no injury from the hips up, except a slight abrasion of the forehead. He were some sort of an abdominal supporter in the shape of a truss, The figure was robust, and weighed about 200 pounds, evidently a mechanic, height 5 feet 10 inches, sandy hair, mustache and chin beard, dark blue coat, dark blue pants, white duck vest and new boots; plain gold ring, three gold Masonic shirt-studs and imitation pearl sleeve buttons. A wallet marked "Fire Insurance, New York Underwriters' Agency, Germania and Hanever, 175 Broadway," was found in his pocket. It contained one $10 and two $5 bills, and a certificate of deposit of $182.48 in the First National Bank of Aurora, Ind., dated Sept. 13th.

Herdiger was agent of the Adams Express Company and Secretary of the Aurora Fire Department. His brother Charles arrived here this afternoon and took charge of the body. The Coroner will hold an inquest to-morrow.
